

Assignment # 4

Implement a multiply ordered list.

One approach is to implement a single list in which multiple link are used to link the nodes together in different orders. For example, to store a collection of records containing student names and id numbers in ascending order we might use multiply linked list having two links per node. As illustrated in the diagram below.

